he Paragon is the result of two passions: water skiing perfection and classic elegance.

It began quite innocently enough with a family's quest for the perfect water ski towboat. That quest, naturally led the clan to Correct Craft's Ski Nautique.

However, the head of the household— having assembled a respectable collection of classic, wooden boats— would not entertain the thought of having a fiberglass vessel in his fleet. The Ski Nautique would have to look like a classic or there would be no new ski boat.

So began the Cinderella tale of the Ski Nautique Paragon.

Craftsmen began with a new Ski Nautique— complete with its record setting hull and integrated composite stringer system. Then they painstakingly fitted tree farm grown Honduras Mahogany to the deck with stainless steel screws. The countersunk hardware was hidden by bungs — small circular plugs of matching Honduras Mahogany— to give the surface a smooth, unblemished look and feel.

The deck was then sanded, sponged and sanded again, using a finer grit sandpaper. Stain was applied to accentuate the rich, tight grain. Then six coats of Spar varnish were applied— each requiring a day or more to set.

The teak floor was similarly installed, using matching teak bungs to cover the stainless steel hardware. But instead of varnish, the teak was hand rubbed with two coats of teak oil.

The hull was painted with a linear polyurethane paint like that used on aircraft. Two coats of clear coat were applied to ensure its luster.

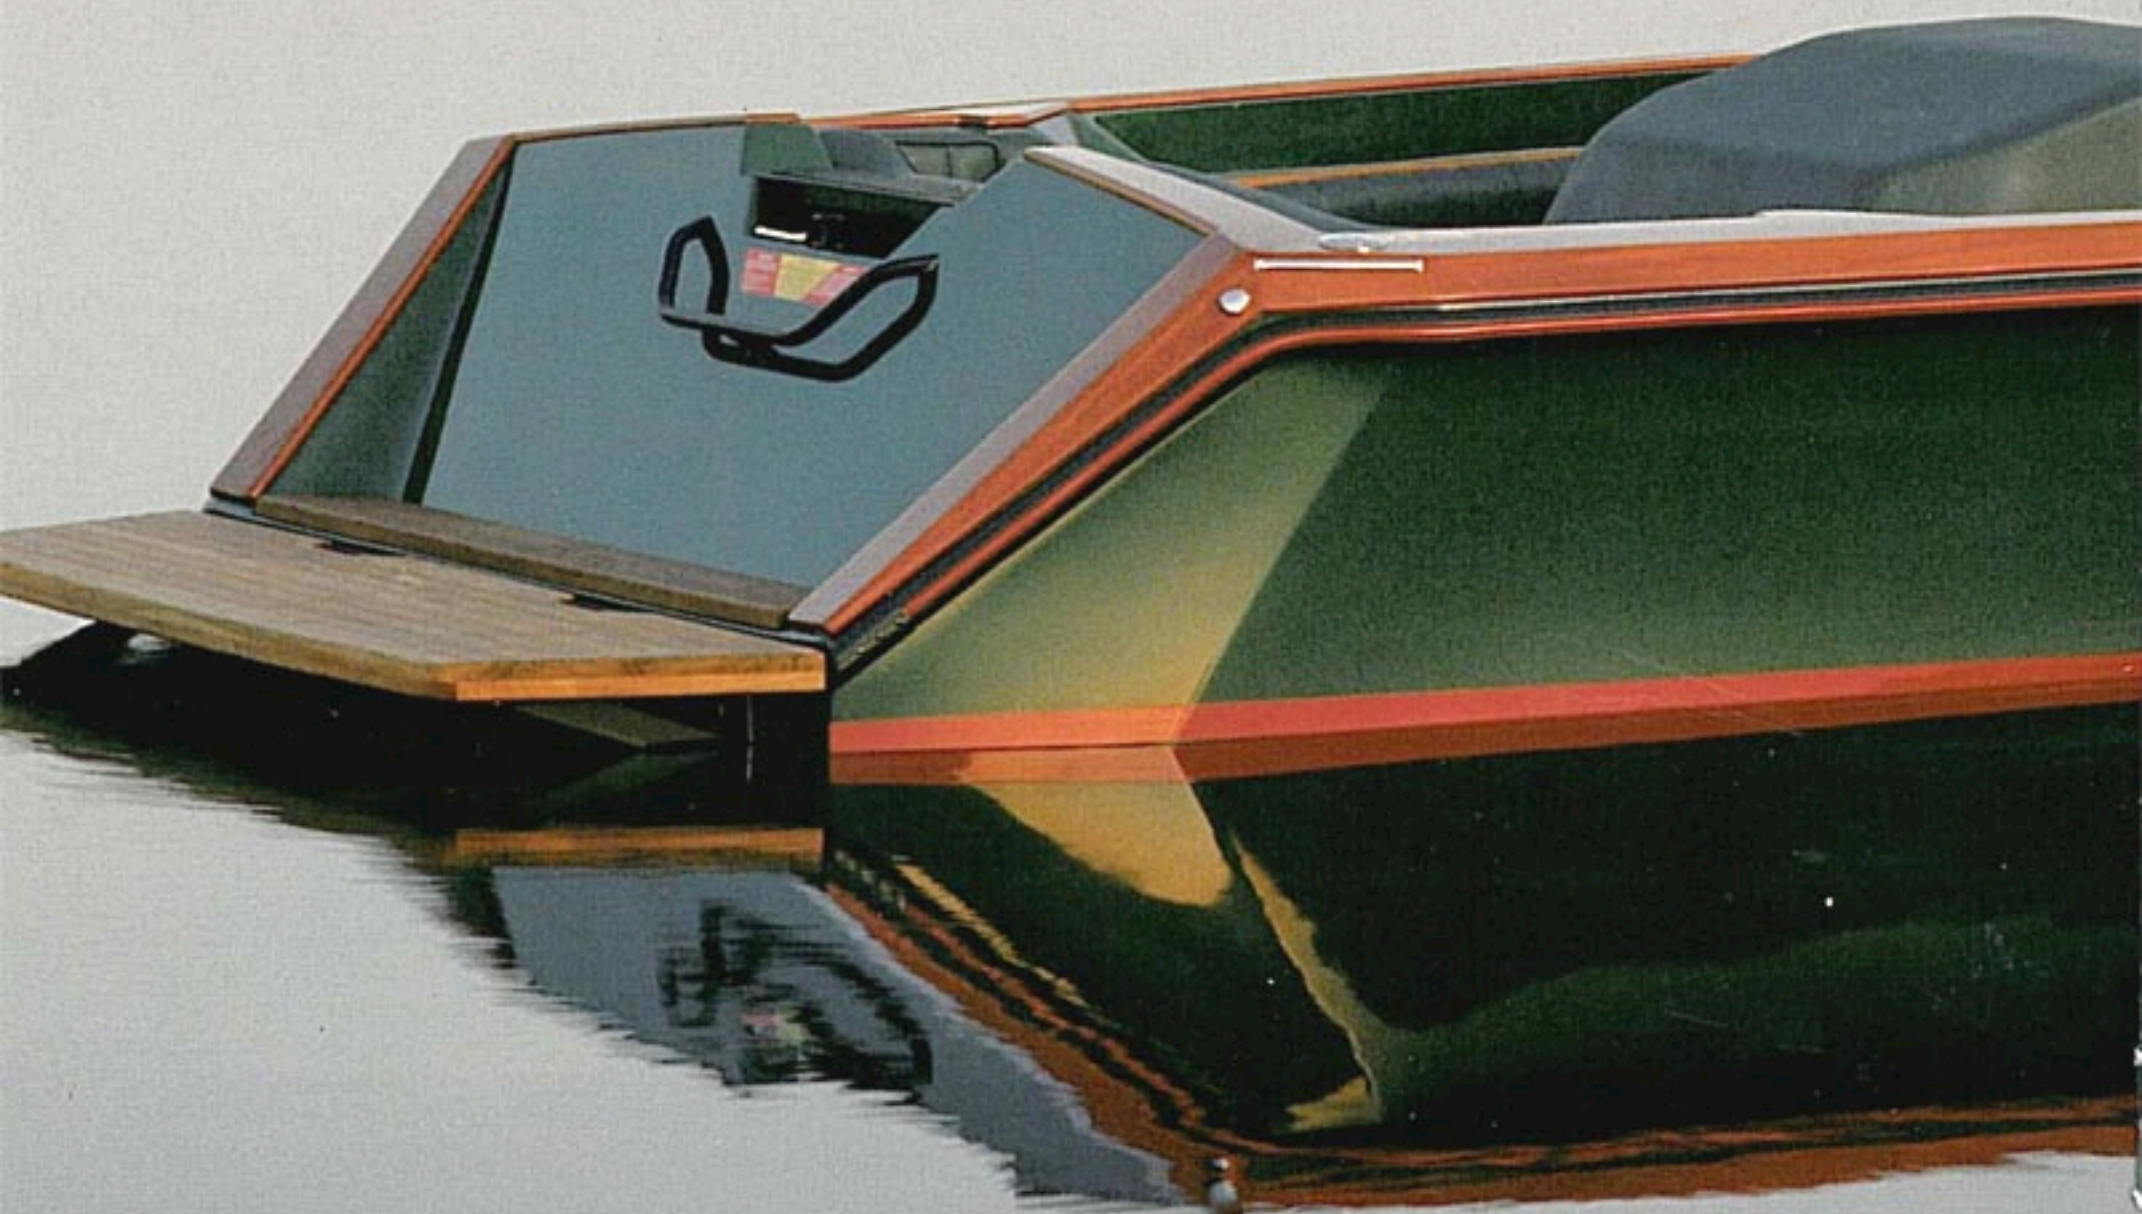

On the transom, the family had the name "Willie B." applied in gold leaf. (In fact, the Paragon is still affectionately referred to around Correct Craft as the Willie B.) So the family got its water ski boat and the patriarch got his classic.

But there's more to this happy ending...

orrect Craft has been building superior quality boats since 1925. That means taking advantage of the latest technology from every industry— from sound damping material originally developed for United States Navy submarines to unibody construction found in Indy race cars.

The Ski Nautique Paragon is unique in that it combines tomorrow's technology with yesterday's craftsmanship to form a luxurious hybrid— embodying pure, functional beauty.

A custom Italian made steering wheel. Morse throttle controls. Rack and pinion steering. VDO gauges. Kenwood AM/FM/Cassette/CD receiver with four 120 watt, 3-way speakers, two 12", 300 watt woofers, two four channel amplifiers and a 10 disk CD changer. The Paragon features list reads more like that of an exotic sports car than a classic runabout. And when you get behind the wheel, you'll find that the similarities don't stop there.

Its classic beauty belies its performance. Unsurpassed maneuverability. Awe inspiring power-out-of-the-hole. Superior tracking. A smooth, silent ride. All of it cleverly hidden beneath a guise of quiet elegance.

The Paragon aficionado is one who has no patience for mediocrity. You strive for perfection. You buy only the best.

With one brief encounter, your boat makes a statement about who you are.

Make sure you like what it says.
