CORRECT CRAFT TO HOST MARINE INDUSTRY MEETING

ORLANDO, FLA (December 8, 2010) — On Wednesday, December 15, Correct Craft, builder of Nautique boats, will be hosting a luncheon and meeting of the Marine Industry Association of Central Florida.

Members of the Central Florida marine industry will gather together for a luncheon provided by Correct Craft this Wednesday December 15th. Correct Craft, recently announced as Central Florida Manufacturer of the Year, will also be giving plant tours to the attendees. Additionally, Correct Craft President/CEO Bill Yeargin will be speaking to the group on “What Does the Future Hold? How Today’s Global Trends Will Impact You and Your Company.”

“This is a great opportunity for our members to network with all facets of the industry including a manufacturer,” said Marine Industry Association of Central Florida Executive Director David Ray. “MIACF appreciates the opportunity to hold our meeting at Correct Craft and see first hand how they produce such outstanding quality boats. Our members are doubly fortunate to have Bill Yeargin as the keynote speaker at this meeting.”

“Our team is excited to be hosting our Central Florida marine industry friends for a lunch and meeting at our facility.” stated Correct Craft President/CEO, Bill Yeargin. “We are looking forward to sharing some of what we do and also learning from others. We anticipate it being a great day for both our team and our guests.” Yeargin added.

Those interested in attending the event may contact MIACF at dray@miacf.org or (386) 943-8383.
